We take a great deal of pleasure in being able to present such satisfactory and stylish showing of Coats for girls and misses. While they are extremely simple, as they should be, to conform with the spring modes, yet there is a beauty about them that cannot well be described—the beauty of simplicity, which, when properly expressed, is never approached by elaboration. No two coats are exactly alike, which will give to each wearer individuality. Many belted and Norfolk effects, some have allaround belts, some have side belts, some have back belts and others merely suggestive, with straps. A number of collars are of different color and material, and plain or fancy shade. Covert Cloths are particularly good, and so are shepherd checks. There are plain colors, mixtures and fancy plaids,
